SANT IS TURNED DOWN

Council Refuses to Pay That Bill.

MANY CHARGES WERE MADE

And a Lively Time was the Result—Council Transacted no End of Business—The News Review Will do the Printing Until the Contract is Let—Other Matters.

It was almost half-past eight when council gathered itself together last night and got down to work. An ordinance to improve Minerva street was presented, but they held it over until more propitious time, as the charge was made that houses were built on the street. Peake made the charge, and then they passed the improvement ordinance for Sheridan avenue. A sewer for Ravine street and Peach alley was discussed for the second time, and the Indiana avenue improvement ordinance passed. A resolution for the improvement of Pleasant street was passed on what is known as the blue line, the order changing the cut on Oak street so that it will be no more than eight feet. A petition representing 700 feet of property on Sophia street, asking for its improvement, was referred to street committee. Peake wanted to give them power to act in the matter of the Waterloo road. The people there, he said, had already paid $75, and had received nothing in return, but the president ended discussion on this line by saying they would consider it at the next meeting. Stewart raised the question of the Broadway wharf, expressing it as his belief that it would be better to fill it in, and let the water pass through a gutter. Challis moved that wharf committee be given power to act, and further discussion was stopped by the motion being passed. Peake remembered that there had been no wharfage paid for a long time, and there was some question about a piece of land owned by Christian Metsch in that part of the city, but his words were ignored, and Horwell, Kent and Owen, the rules committee, reported in favor of the established law, and the report was accepted. The tax levy calling for 12 mills, distributed as follows, was then passed:

General, 2 mills; street, 2 mills; fire, 1 1/2 mills; sanitary, 1 mill; interest, 2 mills; sinking, 2 mills; light, 2 mills.

Owen then introduced an ordinance providing that before any subdivision is made the plat shall be in the hands of street committee one week before action is taken. All new streets must, as far as possible, be extensions of the streets now in use, and must not be less than 45 feet in width, and when accepted they must be graded and curbed. It was referred to the solicitor, Kent and Owen. Stewart said the Diamond well committee wanted to make the hole deeper, and to do it must have an engine in the Diamond. They were given permission, and Peake presented a resolution. It prohibited people from building on streets where the grade had not been fixed, and called for the rejection of all additions until the streets and alleys were graded. The solicitor shrugged his shoulders at the idea, and said council could pass it, but it carried no legal weight. He could build wherever he pleased. Peake explained that he referred in particular to Avondale street, and the matter went to street committee.

A surprise was sprung upon the Solons when a communication from P. M. Smith, of Wellsburg, was read. He represented Isaac Walters, who wanted damages for being struck by a sled on Broadway last winter. Mr. Walters was painfully injured, and asked recompense for suffering and doctor's bills. As usual it went to the solicitor, with the remark from President Marshall that the city was not responsible. The water works asked for eight feet of Apple alley near the kiln shed of Knowles, Taylor & Knowles, in which to build a pit for a high and low service regulator, and got it.

The doctors were there with two communications, the first asking an ordinance and the second a hospital. They want the city to tax all traveling and advertising physicians $25 for doing business in town, and the solicitor was ordered to prepare an ordinance on these lines. The other communication asked the hospital matter to be submitted to a vote of the people, the old cemetery being the favored spot, and it was laid over. The bond of Officers Earle and Meador were received and the sale of the patrol station confirmed.

Honor to Our Soldier Dead.

THE American nation loves to honor the soldier dead; the people love to recall the glorious deeds of Gettysburg, Lookout mountain, and hundreds of other hard fought fields. They are glad of an opportunity to pay homage for the sacrifices at Andersonville and Belle Isle, and proud that the boys who wore the blue withstood the trials of Libby prison. The war is done these many years, and the plenteousness of peace has been felt in the land. The blue and the gray have walked side by side, and evidences of sectional feeling are fast falling into oblivion. The North and the South have long been a united nation, and it cannot but be the hope of all Americans that they so remain until the end of time. It would not be just for the mem-

At this point in the proceedings Peake asked for additional firemen, and Stewart wanted a conference with the underwriters to ascertain if more firemen meant decreased rates. The fire committee and Stewart were called upon to investigate the matter, and the case of the street commissioner's tools came up. Peake thought they should buy a place, but council did not move in that direction. This did not disconcert the member from the Fourth and he at once began to object to the removal of the hose reel from the fire station in order to let the patrol wagon in. On the motion of Stewart, fire and police committees were given power to rent a place for the reel. Owen thought a fire plug should be placed at the West End pottery, and council agreed with him, but promptly knocked out a motion of Peake to place patrol boxes at the same pottery and at brewery, George, Horwell, Kent, Marshall and Owen opposing it. Marshall brought up the printing matter by saying that he had neglected to inform the publishers, and only had the bid of the News Review. By the motion of Stewart the other offices will be informed, and the bids opened at the next meeting. The matter of publishing several important ordinances was left to the News Review under the old contract, and Walter Hill was allowed to talk on the extension of Fourth street. He represented the owners of part of the ball park, and they did not want to stand in the way of the work, only asking fair compensation. Clark suggested that they could agree on the price, and stated that the improvement was advancing rapidly.

Council then returned to regular session, and there was talk of a committee to aid the solicitor, but on motion of Stewart council as a whole were chosen, and a meeting will be held on Friday evening to talk it over. The wharfage matter was introduced by Clark, who said there was no special hurry, and he had been out of town. Stewart remarked that Mr. Berg had been talking to him about the claim of Mrs. Farmer, and Peake thought it should be left with street committee. Owen looked upon this as a waste of time, and thought the solicitor should have had the data, to which Clark replied that he was ready to say that she had no claim.

Then the Sant matter appeared by the remark from Peake that the bill ought to be paid. The president said that to make this legal it was necessary to have a pay ordinance, and by motion of Peake they went into a committee of the whole to hear what Sant had to say. He said after Challis and Kent had objected to hearing him:

"I want to place the matter squarely before you. You have heard the solicitor, and know my claim is legal at least against the individual members of council. They gave me what I believed was a legal contract, but it was not binding on the city. No councilmen disputes that I have carried out my share of the contract. I don't agree with the solicitor when speaking of Auditor Harvey, for actions speak louder than words. You will remember that Harvey showed the committee nothing but the apportionment sheet. He went into office in January, 1893, but in July of the next year he deducted his fee from the Dow tax. Not from the county fund but from the old nest egg. If he intended to give that out why did he take the smallest portion for another purpose. It is plain the money was there. He told me that would he and I knew it. Not a councilman in the county heard a word of it. I can compare that apportionment sheet to a doctor's prescription—the doctor knows, but I don't, its contents. I was unfortunate in having the committee go to Lisbon. They promised if they found no written evidence against me they would report favorable. They didn't find any such evidence, neither did they report unfavorably, but they failed to carry out their promise. Only those who knew the facts could understand the case. They also promised to take advantage of no technical points in law, but they did. There are other errors, serious errors in the auditor's office, and if they were rectified probably East Liverpool would be benefited. It is possible the auditor knows of these; I do but I won't tell them. My friends, the newspapers, think I made a pot of money out of this thing, but instead I sunk $840 at the start, and it was my intention after making myself whole to give other information for nothing. The Crisis condemned me, and I know the reason why, but that is neither here nor there. That paper reminds me of a remark once made in the British house of commons, it only tells the truth by accident. It did tell the truth when it said I was not wealthy. I am a poor man, but if I was a man of 'some wealth' and lived on Broadway I would give this information free of charge. It would be painful for me to bring action against councilmen, but five councils have contracted with me, and all have paid except this one. It would be unjust to the others if Liverpool didn't pay. I would have to give their money back, but I can't do it. When Clark and I went to Lisbon we found $4,148.92 due the city $839.55 having been taken out by the auditor. He told us he would not put it back but he did. There is still $166.22 due the city and it can be recovered. There is also $1727 coming to Liverpool. When I asked the auditor why he did not pay the Dow tax to Liverpool he told me that he couldn't; he would have to pay interest on it, and where was that to come from? Does it look right when the auditor made no move from Sept. 1 to Aug. 23? I remarked to Starkey, the expert, that I supposed they would pay the Dow tax when they borrowed $40,000 and was met with the reply that it would be put down, and it would show that it was apportioned. I hope I will not disagree with council so far as to be compelled to adopt another course."

When Mr. Sant sat down George asked for the report of the committee, and was given an account by President Marshall. The solicitor then told them how to proceed, and Peake moved the bill be put on the pay roll and Kent so far forgot his silence as to second it. Stewart objected on the ground that they had only heard one side, and wanted the other members to explain. Owen was called but had nothing to say. Kent would not give particulars, simply expressing an opinion. Horwell did not tell either, and it remained for the president to move. He called Owen to the chair, and taking the floor said he had studied the matter carefully. He was thoroughly convinced that there was "something rotten" in the auditor's office. He had kept his promise and not considered any technicalities, but he knew that falsified returns had been sent the auditor of state, and other illegal acts had been committed in that office. Sant, he believed, was acting in good faith, and then he charged Auditor Harvey with a lot of things fairly alarming council by his array of figures. Kent roused himself at this point long enough to object, but Owen sat upon him, and Marshall emphatically stated that in the face of the facts he could do nothing but vote to pay the bill.

George wanted the other side of the story, and said some rash statements had been made. "Sant said he was going to leave. If these statements are not true he will have to." The vote showed Challis, Horwell, Kent and Stewart against paying the bill, and the others were for it. That making a tie the motion was lost. Marshall talked of asking the daily and weekly papers to bid on the printing, and someone caused a smile by asking if the People was a paper. Kent believed this would head the weekly off, but was sat upon again, and council adjourned.

GEORGE MAY RESIGN.

The Third Ward Councilman Will Move to the Country.

The announcement was made today that Will George, Prohibition councilman from the Third, ward would resign.

A NEWS REVIEW reporter saw Mr. George at the Burford pottery this afternoon. He said the story was partially true. "I intend moving to Calcutta" said Mr. George "for summer residence and if I find I cannot attend meetings I will have to resign. I would rather not do this because of the way I was elected. There is not much pleasure in being a councilman though. I will not resign if I can help it."

THE SCAFFOLD BROKE

And One Man Received Serious Injuries This Morning.

AN ACCIDENT AT THOMAS'

Three Men on the Frail Boards When They Snapped and One on the Floor of the Kiln Got a Brick on His Head—A Middle Scaffold Saved Them.

There was an accident at Thomas' Knob works this morning and it resulted more seriously than the last one at that factory.

Three men, Thad Fuller, Alex Marshall and Frank Potts were on a scaffold at the top of a new kiln which they were building. The kiln so far is about 30 feet high and the men began to "batter it up" today. Among the tenders to the bricklayers was Daniel Kelley, of West End. About 10:30 o'clock this morning the supports gave way and the scaffold fell with a crash. Fuller was nearest to the center, and shot down through the top of the kiln in an instant. He struck another scaffold about half way down the kiln alighting fairly astride a 2x10 joist. His back was badly injured and the patrol was called to take him to the home of his brother-in-law, Frank March, Broadway. Dr. Hobbs was called and said that Fuller was badly hurt, but the extent of his injuries cannot be determined for a day or two. Fuller's home is in Millport. Kelley was struck by a falling brick and the top of his head split open. He was unconscious for a time, but will recover. Potts held to a part of the scaffold which did not fall, and was uninjured, while Marshall had a close shave. He grabbed the side of the kiln with his hands and hung to the freshly laid bricks until helped down.

The accident created much excitement but all the men except Fuller and Kelly resumed work a few minutes later.

THE TICKET.

General Jones Made Lieutenant-Governor by Acclamation.

SPECIAL TO THE NEWS REVIEW. ZANESVILLE, May 29.—When the convention assembled today no time was lost in nominating the remainder of the ticket, and many surprises were in store. General Jones, of Youngstown, was made lieutenant-governor by acclamation; W. D. Guilbert auditor on second ballot; T. A. Minsball was nominated for supreme court on the second ballot; Allen for supreme court clerk by acclamation; J. M. Ickes is the new chairman of the central committee and W. H. Shinn is the secretary.

Out For Fun.

Reverend Lee, of this city, accompanied by Rev. Frank Talmage, Pittsburg, have been having a time of unalloyed enjoyment and adventure amid the Blue Ridge range of mountains, in Pennsylvania. They were out on bicycles, for health and pleasure, and received a fair share of each. The scenery along their route is simply superb, and Reverend Lee speaks of the landscape views as magnificent, while the bracing air conduced to life and health.

Wreck at Rochester.

Passengers on the morning west-bound train reported a bad wreck at Rochester, where the Fort Wayne tracks cross the Cleveland and Pittsburg. The accident was on a bridge, and freight cars were piled high in the air. It was the worst freight wreck of the year. So far as could be learned nobody was killed and no local trains were delayed.

One Hundred Dead.

SPECIAL TO NEWS REVIEW. NEW YORK, May 29.—News reached here this morning that the steamship Colima with 182 souls on board had foundered off the coast of Mexico on Monday. All except 19, who reached Manzanilla in an open boat, are lost. Many of them were New York people bound for California.

The Soldiers' Request.

The old soldiers of the city desire that as many residents as possible decorate their houses tomorrow, especially along the line of march and that the soldiers' monument in the Diamond be draped in a manner befitting the occasion.

Social Events.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter B. Hill will entertain on Friday evening. The picnic of the young married people's club at Columbian Park yesterday was a pronounced success.

EAST LIVERPOOL, O., WEDNESDAY, MAY 29.

For President, WILLIAM MCKINLEY, of Ohio.

When Eugene V. Debs heard that the supreme court had decided against him he remarked that "states rights are practically eliminated." In this Eugene was right, the union soldier having settled that little controversy a matter of 30 years ago.

The supreme court is being scored for the income tax decision by many an editorial writer under the orders of newspaper owners who are glad in their hearts the thing was killed, but must make some kind of a Democratic argument for appearance sake.

SOME narrow minded chap among the councilmen of Chicago has introduced an ordinance prohibiting the wearing of bloomers by women within the city limits. Of course he is a bachelor who wants to see all women riders killed by having their dresses caught in the sprocket wheel.

THE right of Wellsville council to keep Liverpool merchants from distributing bills in that place is legal, but what is sauce for the goose is sauce for the gander. But why should there be any controversy between two towns with interests as closely allied as are those of Liverpool and Wellsville?

DANIEL WEBSTER'S VIEW.

When Daniel Webster was on earth he once gave utterance to words that can now be read with profit by the free silver people who believe they have some precedent for their claims:

"There are some political evils which are seen as soon as they are dangerous, and which alarm at once as well the people as the government. War and invasions, therefore, are not always the most certain destroyers of national prosperity. They come in no questionable shape. They announce their own approach, and the general security is preserved by the general alarm. Not so with the evils of a debased coin, a depreciated paper currency, or a depressed and failing public credit. These insinuate themselves in the shape of facilities, accommodation and relief. They hold out the most fallacious hope of an easy payment of debts and a lighter burden of taxation."

Daniel was a bigger man than any of the free silverites can hope to attain.

NO USE FOR JAMES.

If the Democratic leaders carry out their avowed policy by nominating James E. Campbell to oppose the Republican candidate for governor, there will be a dead politician in Ohio next November. The individual who came to East Liverpool for the purpose of discussing the issues of the campaign, and after gathering an audience under this false pretense openly insulted every woman within range of his voice, will never be made governor of this great commonwealth. James might not have been himself that night; it is to be hoped that he was not; but even though he only broke out on that one occasion, it served to show the real man beneath the enameling of a polished gentleman. When politicians drop into the groove occupied on that occasion by this erstwhile defender of Democratic doctrine, they mingle their manhood with the dust of the street, and stand out as anything but representative men. Ohio owes James E. Campbell nothing, but East Liverpool owes him her contempt and disregard.

GRESHAM'S FUNERAL.

Services Held at the White House This Morning.

BODY EN ROUTE FOR CHICAGO.

The Funeral Party Left Washington Shortly After Noon—The President and Cabinet Officers on the Train—A Military Escort to the Depot.

WASHINGTON, May 29.—There is considerable speculation among politicians and others of the administration as to the successor to Secretary Gresham. Prominent among the names mentioned in this connection are those of Attorney General Olney, Mr. Uhl, the present assistant secretary of state, Senator Gray of Delaware, Ambassadors Bayard and Eastis, ex-Secretary Whitney and ex-Postmaster General Dickinson. All the proceedings are, however, speculative, as the subject has not been mentioned much less discussed by the president or anyone in his confidence. The president has 30 days under the law in which to make his selection, and those who know him best believe that no appointment will be made without great deliberation. All things considered, it is thought that a choice will not be definitely determined upon for some time yet.

The funeral ceremonies in Washington today were of a semi-official character, as they were held in the East room of the White House, with the president and his cabinet, justices of the supreme court, ambassadors and ministers, representatives of the departments, and the army and navy, and others present, and all official business was suspended for the day. The remains were taken from the Arlington hotel to the executive mansion this morning and placed in the East room where funeral services were held at 10 o'clock. They were conducted by Bishop Hurst of the Methodist Episcopal church. Seats were reserved for the members of the diplomatic corps, the members of the United States supreme court, such senators and members of congress as were in the city and the chiefs of the war and navy departments.

Major General Ruger commanded all of the military forces stationed about the capitol, which acted as an escort for the funeral party from the White House to the depot, where a special train was in readiness to convey the party to Chicago. The train left Washington shortly after noon and had on board President Cleveland and all of Secretary Gresham's colleagues of the cabinet, who will follow the body to the grave. The seven cabinet officers, with Assistant Secretary Uhl, who is acting secretary of state, will officiate as active pallbearers. Secretary of the Treasury Carlisle, who has been in Tennessee, will join the funeral party at some point on the route. Hon. William S. Bissell, ex-postmaster general, also accompanied the remains to Chicago. While the details of the ceremonies in Chicago are yet incomplete, it is settled that brief services will be held tomorrow afternoon, at the cemetery to which the body will be borne accompanied by a military escort, in harmony with the day and Secretary Gresham's well-known loyalty to his oldtime war

In Every Home TONSILINE SHOULD BE FOUND.

ASSOCIATIONS. The body will be placed temporarily in a vault at Oakwood cemetery, pending the decision by the family regarding its final resting place. Washington was hardly prepared for the announcement of the death of Secretary Gresham, which occurred at such a late hour Monday night that it was not known to the public until read in the morning papers, for although the fatal termination of the serious illness had been forecast, there was no general apprehension that the end would come so soon. Flags were lowered to half-mast on all public buildings and many business houses. Official business was for the time laid aside by the higher officers of the government, and the members of all official circles, together with prominent people in private life, hastened to the Arlington hotel, where the Greshams have made their home in this city, to leave their cards and messages of condolence.

The President and Mrs. Cleveland called during the morning, and were for half an hour with Mrs. Andrews, the daughter of the dead secretary of state, and Mr. Otto Gresham, the son. Afterward, the president and several members of the cabinet, held a conference at the White House, to consider the arrangements for the funeral, and later in the day the president issued a proclamation, paying a warm tribute to the character of his secretary of state. There was also a meeting of the diplomatic corps at the British embassy, where appropriate action was taken. Messages of condolence poured in from this and other countries, from notable people.

TO HONOR GRESHAM.

Chicago People Making Arrangements For the Funeral at That Place.

CHICAGO, May 29.—No definite arrangements have been made as yet for the funeral of Secretary Gresham, for the reason that the wishes of the family are not yet fully understood.

United States District Attorney John C. Black will invite all of the federal judges, the heads of all of the government offices and Major General Merritt of the army to meet with him some time today to arrange for participation in the funeral services and to receive the president and his cabinet on their arrival in Chicago.

President Dent of the Chicago Bar association has arranged for the calling of a meeting of the bar to express its respect for the memory of Judge Gresham. A special meeting of the city council will be held this afternoon at 3 o'clock to take appropriate action upon the death of the late Secretary Gresham. The announcement in the press dispatches that the remains will arrive with escort in this city tomorrow afternoon furnished the impetus for the special call. Mayor Swift desired that the council take the initiative in the matter, and the customary arrangements will be made at the meeting this afternoon. The adoption of resolutions and the decision for the action of the council as a body will be made at that time.

"Christ Hath Risen."

All at once is heard in the distance the clear boom of the cannon announcing the hour of midnight. The Russian priest, standing on the steps of the altar, swings his censer and announces in tones which penetrate to the farthest corners of the edifice, "Christos voskres" (Christ hath risen), and the people answer him with one voice, "Vo istine voskres" (In truth he hath risen). The woman standing nearest the priest lights her taper at the consecrated one presented to her by him, her neighbor in turn receives the light from her, and so on, till in a minute, as it were, the chapel was illuminated with a hundred lights. Fathers and mothers, sons and daughters, friends and relations embraced one another, kissing three times on the forehead and either cheek and exchanging the Easter greeting. The whole congregation, then passing before the priest, did the same with him, and high mass now followed.—Chambers' Journal.

Transporting Carp.

When packing live carp for transport by post, some authorities recommend placing in their mouths a small piece of bread, well steeped in brandy, but I do not myself approve of this plan, as I believe it tends to encourage the fish in a disastrous love for ardent spirits. The eminently respectable Dutch, on the other hand, keep carp through the winter hung up in baskets, but feed them on a blameless course of bread and milk, which the sternest moralist could not fail to approve of.—Cornhill Magazine.

A substitute shines lightly as a king until a king be by, and then his state empties itself, as doth an inland brook into the main of waters.—Shakespeare.

THE MERCHANT'S DAUGHTER.

Her father was a merchant bold Who o'er the wild Hiscayan water Still brought back the good red gold To richly show his only daughter. Radiant she as rose on tree; But, though full many a gallant sought her, No, no, no! on all their woe Frowned back the merchant's daughter.

Until, effluent from the light That shook the shores from France to Flanders, Shone upon her patriot sight The kingliest of our sea commanders, Looked her through, and from her view Vanished smiling, on the morrow. Ah! but she her laughing gleo Forsook for sighing sorrow.

"Fair blows the wind; the skies are blue, Wit sail with me, my winsome daughter!" "That will I! Dear friends, adieu!" And o'er the wave her sire has caught her. Southward far, by sun and star, His good ship fleets the ocean over, When, aloft, across her track There strikes a Salco rover.

But as the pirate pressed them sore, And deck and hold ran red with slaughter, Sudden round the headland hoar A noble warship sweeps the water. Heavens above! 'tis her true love That hath this great deliverance wrought her.

Grief, farewell! wake, marriage bell, For our blent merchant's daughter! —Alfred Percival Graves in Athenaeum.

AN ELEPHANT'S TENDER CARE.

When Left to Watch Children He Will Faithfully Protect Them.

The whole family of the mahout become, as it were, parasites to the elephant, by whom they earn their living. I have seen a baby placed by its mother systematically under the elephant's care and within reach of its trunk, while the mother went to fetch water or to get wood or material to cook the family dinner. No jackal or wolf would be likely to pick up and carry off a baby who was thus confided to the care of an elephant, but most people who have lived a life in the jungle know how very possible it is for a jackal or wolf to carry off a baby when lying in a hut when the mother's back is turned. The children thus brought up in the companionship of an elephant become familiar with him and take all kinds of liberties with him, which the elephant seems to endure on the principle that it does not hurt him, while it amuses the child. You see a little naked black child about 2 feet high standing on the elephant's bare back and taking it down to the water to bathe, shouting all the time in the most unbecoming terms of native abusive language.

On arriving at the water the elephant, ostensibly in obedience to the child's command, lies down and enjoys himself, just leaving a part of his body, like a small island, above the water, on which the small child stands and yells and yells all the more if he has several companions of his own age, also in charge of their elephants, all wallowing in the water around him. If the child slips off his island, the elephant's trunk promptly replaces him in safety. The little urchins as they grow up become first mates to mahouts and eventually arrive at the dignity of being mahouts themselves.—Omaha World-Herald.

PLEASURE TRIPS.

Numerous Excursions the Coming Summer at Reasonable Rates.

Whether the tourist's fancy directs him to the New England States or to the Atlantic seaboard; to the South; or to the lake region of the North; or to the Rocky Mountains and the wonderland beyond the Mississippi, he will be given opportunity to indulge his tastes at a small cost for railroad fare this year. There will be low rates to Baltimore over the Pennsylvania lines in May, account the American Medical association; to Decatur, Ill., account the German Baptist (Dunkard) meeting, and to Pittsburgh for the Presbyterian general assembly. There will also be low rates over these lines to Meridian, Miss., account the general assembly Cumberland Presbyterian church the same month. In June excursion tickets will be sold over the Pennsylvania lines to Omaha account the National Jr. American Mechanics to Chattanooga, Tenn., for the International convention of Epworth league; to Cleveland, O., account the National Republican league meeting, and to Roanoke, Va., for the German Baptist meeting. Excursions for July include low rates over the Pennsylvania to Baltimore for the Baptist Y. P. Union meeting; to Asbury Park for the L. A. W. meeting, and to Boston for the Christian Endeavor convention, and to Denver, Col., account the National Educational association meeting. In August excursion tickets will be on sale over the Pennsylvania lines to Boston, account the Knights Templar convocation. The sale of low rate tickets will not be restricted to the members of the organizations mentioned, but the public generally may take advantage of them.

The Asbury Park excursion will doubtless attract many to that delightful ocean resort. Atlantic City, Cape May, Long Branch, and all the famous watering places along the New Jersey coast are located on the Pennsylvania lines, hence this will be a desirable opportunity to visit the seashore. The Denver excursion will be just the thing for a sight-seeing jaunt through the far west, as tickets will be honored going one way and returning a different route through the most romantic scenery beyond the Mississippi and Missouri rivers. Variable route privileges will also be accorded Boston excursionists, enabling them to visit Niagara Falls, Montreal, Thousand Islands and St. Lawrence Rapids, the White Mountains, the Hudson River territory, and to return by steamer on Long Island sound, after sight-seeing in Newport, Narragansett Pier, Nantucket and the Cape Cod resorts to New York, and thence through the agricultural paradise of the Keystone state, along the Susquehanna and Juniata rivers, over the Alleghenies, around famous Horse Shoe curve, through historic Johnstown and the coke and iron regions of Western Pennsylvania. It is also expected that Boston excursionists over the Pennsylvania lines will be privileged to return via Baltimore and Washington if they so desire.

In addition to the above, there will be plenty of other cheap excursions over the Pennsylvania lines to various points. As the season is some weeks away, arrangements in detail have not been consummated, but it is certain that no railway will offer better inducements than the liberal concessions in rates and privileges that may be enjoyed by travelers on the Pennsylvania Lines. Apply to any passenger or ticket agent of these lines, or address F. Van Dusen, Chief Assistant Passenger Agent, Pittsburg, Pa.

GEN. BUSHNELL NAMED

Ohio Republicans Nominate Him For Governor.

VICTORY FOR EX-GOV. FORAKER.

He Worked Hard For the Springfield Man. Opposed by McKinley and Sherman. McKinley Endorsed For President and Foraker For Senator.

ZANESVILLE, O., May 29.—The nomination for governor by the Republican state convention of General Asa S. Bushnell is generally regarded as a victory for the Foraker men over the McKinley men, although the result was not as decisive as the former expected. The Foraker men were able to concentrate on Bushnell, and their opponents remained divided. Ex-Governor Foraker worked for Bushnell, while Sherman, Foster and other leaders opposed the favorite. Hoyt and Nash made brilliant speeches and were on the ground hustling, while General Bushnell remained at his home in Springfield.

The convention was called to order here by Colonel Joseph C. Bonner, chairman of the state committee. A half hour previous the hall was packed to its full capacity of 5,000 and a larger number were unable to gain admittance. Senator Sherman was given a stirring ovation when he was escorted into the hall by Congressman Van Voorhis and Judge Granger. Ex-Secretary Foster, members of congress, several candidates and others were cheered as they entered, so that Chairman Bonner had to rap hard for order previous to the prayer of Rev. Samuel G. Addison of Toledo. Among the working delegates were Herman G. Dennison, son of the war governor, and Harry Garfield, son of the martyred president. On the platform were Judges West, Lawrence, Baldwin and a large number of leading Republicans.

A Marked Demonstration.
When Judge West, who was the Republican candidate for governor in 1877, was being escorted to the platform Senator Sherman came down to greet him, and the scene occasioned a marked demonstration. While Chairman Bonner who is a member of McKinley's staff, was eloquently congratulating the Republicans on the result of the last Ohio election and forecasting another triumph for next November in a well-set introductory speech, ex-Governor Foraker entered the hall, and a very boisterous demonstration followed his appearance. After Chairman Bonner had made repeated efforts to secure order and proceed with his introductory remarks, ex-Governor Foraker came to the front of the platform and said:

"Gentlemen of the convention—I hope you will not any longer disturb the deliberations of the convention. There will be time for us all to be heard before we leave Zanesville. [More shouting than previously.] It is a good town to stay over night in, and we will stay just as long as our business may require. At the proper time, when that will be in order, I will be very glad indeed to exchange greetings with you, but I beg for the present that you let the chairman of the central committee proceed with his speech, in order to expedite the business of the convention." [Great applause.]

Even after this appeal it was with great difficulty that Colonel Bonner cut short his remarks and introduced the demonstrative assemblage. Senator John Sherman as the temporary chairman, Senator Sherman met the demonstrators at first with the remark that he hoped to see the Republicans of Ohio keep up such a pitch of enthusiasm till the next November election. His speech commanded the closest attention.

Senator Sherman's Speech.
Senator Sherman in his speech said that either of the candidates for the nominations were worthy of the highest honors the convention could confer. But the convention had a still higher duty, that of announcing the principles and policy of the Republican party in the state of Ohio and the United States.

After making a strong argument in favor of a return to the McKinley protective tariff, he took up the financial question as follows:
"We are in favor of a sound national currency always redeemable in coin. All forms of money should be of equal purchasing power. For 14 years after the resumption of specie payments, while the Republican party was in power, we had such a currency. We had gold, silver and paper money, all bearing the stamp and sanction of the United States, of unquestioned credit and of equal value, passing current not only within the United States but in all parts of the commercial world.

Both gold and silver are indispensable for use in the varied wants of mankind. Gold is now, and has been for ages, the chief measure of value in international commerce and the larger transactions of domestic exchanges. Silver, from its bulk and weight, is not available for large payments either at home or abroad, but it is indispensable in the minor wants of mankind. Gold, from its greatly superior value, cannot be utilized for such purpose. Therefore it is that both metals have been coined into money at a fixed ratio.

Disturbed by Too Much Silver.
"The enormous increase in the production of silver in the United States, Mexico and Australia has disturbed this ratio and has lowered the market value of silver precisely as a like increase of production has lowered the price of other commodities. It is a universal law that price or value is measured by quantity. Under these conditions the national and proper course would be a change in ratio, but this can only be effective as to these two metals by a concert of action among commercial nations. Until this can be accomplished the only logical way is for each nation to coin both metals and maintain the coinage of the cheaper metal at par by the limitation of amount, and redemption when in excess of the demand for it. Such is now the policy of the United States and every great commercial nation. Other nations adopt the silver standard alone, not from choice but from poverty.

The Resolutions Adopted.
Following are the resolutions adopted: "The Republicans of Ohio, in state convention assembled, congratulate the people of the country upon the signal victory in the state and congressional elections last fall, assuring glorious national victory in 1896, and declare as follows:
"We reaffirm our adherence to the principles of the Republican party as defined by the national convention in 1892, chief among which are:
"A protective tariff, which restoring American wages and American production, shall prove to the highest interests of American laborers and American development while providing adequate revenue for the uses of the government.

"Reciprocity which, while seeking and gaining the world's market for our surplus products, shall not lower or destroy American wages, nor surrender our own markets to foreign commodities which can be produced at home.
"Fair elections, based upon a free ballot and an honest count, the safeguard of American institutions, the true source of public authority.
"The Financial Plan.
"Honest money, consisting of gold, silver and paper, every dollar as good as any other dollar, and all backed by the national faith and honor. We favor bimetalism and demand the use of both gold and silver as standard money, either in accordance with a ratio to be fixed by an international agreement, if that can be obtained, or under such restrictions and such provisions, to be determined by legislation, as will secure the maintenance of the parity of values of the two metals, so that the purchasing and debt paying power of the dollar, whether of silver, gold or paper, shall be at all times equal.
"We denounce the present Democratic administration, whose vicious and vacillating course has brought us distress at home and humiliation abroad.
"It has inaugurated a policy looking toward ultimate free trade, which has deranged business, crippled our industries, distressed our homes and dealt labor a serious blow. With deplorable incompetency it has failed to raise revenue enough to run the government, and has had to borrow, in less than two years, $162,000,000, mainly to pay ordinary running expenses, selling in secret to favor foreign syndicates the bonds of the government at prices far below their actual value.

Hawaiian Policy Condemned.
"It has lowered the flag in Hawaii in an un-American attempt to overthrow a republic and restore a monarchy, and, with unpatriotic indifference, has suffered British troops to land in Nicaragua, in contemptuous disregard of the Monroe doctrine; by these and similar acts, our country, second in power and dignity to none, has suffered a loss of respect throughout the world.
"We denounce the free wool provision of the present tariff act as an unjust discrimination against an important industry, and demand such protection for sheep husbandry as will secure fair prices for American wool.
"We denounce the present administration of the pension bureau for its betrayal of the interests of the union soldiers, and we pledge anew to the veterans of the republic a watchful care and recognition of their just claims upon a grateful people.
"We endorse the able, honest and business-like administration of Governor William McKinley. We are unqualifiedly in favor of bi-metallic sessions and endorse the action of the last general assembly in returning to the policy of the founders of our state constitution in that regard; we commend the last general assembly for the care and economy of its appropriations, taxing privileges and franchises enjoyed at the hands of the state, and thus relieving to that extent the burdens of taxation now resting upon the people.
"Believing the proposed Nicaragua canal is needed for commercial extension and national defense, and that it ought to be constructed and operated by the government of the United States or under its protection, we commend this project to our representatives in congress.
"The election of a Republican legislature in this state next November will enable Ohio to send to the United States senate a Republican colleague to that grand old statesman, John Sherman, who has so long and so ably sustained the honor of Ohio as her representative in that august body. For this honorable place in the upper house of congress, the Republicans of this state have but one candidate, and we, their representatives here assembled, give voice to that unanimous selection in naming and recommending as their choice for that position, that grand soldier, peerless orator and patriotic statesman, Joseph B. Foraker.
"McKinley For President.
"The people of Ohio are proud of the character and career of their distinguished friend and citizen, William McKinley. A pure, patriotic and unselfish life of public service has endeared him to the Republicans of the nation and justly won him a place among the few chosen by popular acclaim for high station and great leadership. Believing him to possess, in eminent degree, those rare qualities of broad, wise and patriotic statesmanship which not only fit him for victorious leadership in a great campaign, but for a successful administration after election, we present William McKinley to the Republicans of the nation as a candidate for the nomination for president in 1896, and we pledge him the absolute and unwavering support of Ohio at the next national convention.
"We have heard with great sorrow of the sudden and untimely death of Hon. Walter Q. Gresham, late the secretary of state, and we extend to his bereaved family our sympathy and condolence."

JOSEPH BENSON FORAKER.

the gold dollars. The great hardship of this policy would fall upon the workmen, skilled or unskilled, whose daily wage, measured by the present standard of the world, is higher than in any other country of the world. Their wages will purchase more of the necessities of life than the wages paid for similar labor anywhere outside of the United States. It is false pretense that the cheapening of money will be beneficial to them.
"The Republican party in its national platform of 1892, demanded good money of equal purchasing power, whether coined of silver, of gold, or composed of United States notes and national bank notes based upon the credit of the United States, maintained at par with coin. This is the bimetallic policy. There we stand today. I hope and trust there we will stand forever. We will seek the co-operation of all nations and of all parties in maintaining the parity of gold and silver coin. If they will not co-operate with us in this policy the Republican party can and, I hope, will do it alone. Good money and plenty of it is as important to our people as equality of rights and privileges.

His Closing Remarks.
"Let us then, with a firm reliance upon the principles, policy and wisdom of the great party to which we belong, nominate our candidate and declare our platform, and then make an appeal to the intelligence of the people of Ohio. In all of the great issues made in the last 40 years the Republican party has had the courage to propose and to do what is right. Let us now follow in the same pathway, and we will not only elect a Republican governor and state officers, but also another Republican senator, and, I hope, a president of the United States from Ohio."

At the conclusion of the senator's speech the 21 congressional districts were called for members of the committee and other positions, when it was found that there were bitter contests for seats, especially in the Toledo and Springfield districts. The following committee on resolutions was appointed and afterward organized with ex-Secretary Charles Foster as chairman:
T. W. Graydon, J. H. Brownell, R. M. Nevins, D. L. Gaskill, R. B. Heller, George W. Hulick, George C. Rawlins, J. L. Conner, J. K. Richards, Charles H. Grosvenor, Henry C. Taylor, W. S. Kerr, H. C. Van Vorhis, Lorenzo Danford, A. S. McClure, R. W. Taylor, S. A. Northway, J. B. Barrows and H. G. Wilder, with C. P. Griffin's place contested by J. M. Ashley.

Sherman Permanent Chairman.
The temporary organization was made permanent. The contested delegations from the Toledo and Springfield districts were not seated. With a corresponding number of speeches the following names were nominated to the convention for the nomination for governor:
J. W. Barger, J. Warren Keifer, J. H. Hoyt, George K. Nash, Robert Nevins, A. L. Harris and E. W. Poe. General Bushnell's name was not presented by any speaker. There were 827 delegates in the convention, 414 being necessary to a choice.

On the sixth ballot General Asa S. Bushnell was nominated, receiving 509 votes; Nash, 201; Hoyt, 111. Necessary for choice, 414.

President Woodmansee, Secretary Miller and other officers of the Republican League of Ohio, together with ex-Governor Foraker, who was sitting in the stage at the time, telegraphed their congratulations to General Bushnell at his home in Springfield. The Clark county delegation, from Bushnell's home, stood out for General Keifer till the last ballot, when it gave each half of its vote. The result of the nomination was received as a great victory for Foraker, amid very loud demonstration.

"McKinley For President.
"The people of Ohio are proud of the character and career of their distinguished friend and citizen, William McKinley. A pure, patriotic and unselfish life of public service has endeared him to the Republicans of the nation and justly won him a place among the few chosen by popular acclaim for high station and great leadership. Believing him to possess, in eminent degree, those rare qualities of broad, wise and patriotic statesmanship which not only fit him for victorious leadership in a great campaign, but for a successful administration after election, we present William McKinley to the Republicans of the nation as a candidate for the nomination for president in 1896, and we pledge him the absolute and unwavering support of Ohio at the next national convention.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure.

A grain of tartar baking powder. Highest of all in leavening strength.—Latest United States Government Food Report. ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., 106 Wall St., N. Y.

RAN FOR HIS LIFE.

John Temple Tried to Get Across the Culvert, but Too Late.

The accident which befell John Temple, and was noted briefly in the News Review yesterday, was a terrible one, and shocked all of East End.

Mr. Temple had been to this city and was walking home with a basket of groceries, preferring this to riding on the cars because of the pleasant weather. The last person he spoke to was Shell Johnson, a newsboy of East End who passed him on the culvert. The old gentleman spoke pleasantly to the lad, and the latter, hearing the train approaching, hurried to the other side. Mr. Temple observed his danger when it was too late, and the engineer did not see him until the locomotive was almost on him. The unfortunate man ran and had reached a point where a younger man could have escaped. He stepped to the south side of the culvert as if to jump at any rate, but the train struck him. It was the 3:45 o'clock west bound express and was coming with terrific speed. He was thrown clear across the culvert, alighting against a stump at the foot of the bank. The fall against the stump broke his back, and when he was examined for other injuries it was found that every rib was broken, his left arm and left leg broken and the body from head to stomach was literally crushed. The head was marked only above one eye, where dirt had been ground in. The train tore the side out of his basket of groceries. The engineer stopped as quickly as possible and brought the body to the local depot, from where it was sent back to East End on the 4:20 train. Mr. Temple has lived with his maiden sister-in-law since his wife's death and the lady's grief was terrible to witness when the body was taken home.

Deceased was aged 78 years. He came from Kentucky when but 20 years old to work for James Trimble, on his farm near Hookstown. He also learned the carpenter trade there. He was married to Miss Jane Ewing, who died four years ago, and Miss Sallie Ewing has been his housekeeper since he sold his farm in Green township and moved to East End, where he purchased property. Deceased was a prominent church worker, being an elder in the Second Presbyterian church at East End and having been an elder in the Mill Creek church for more than 30 years. He leaves no other relatives here, having a half-brother in Kentucky and Mrs. George Rabbitt, of Akron, being a niece. Funeral services will be held at the family residence at 7 o'clock this evening, with interment in Mill Creek cemetery, at 8 o'clock tomorrow morning.

WILL CORCORAN COME?

What an Insurance Man Says of Reduced Rates.

One of the best informed and most progressive insurance men in town said today:

"There is nothing in all this talk about changing the insurance rates, at least not yet. J. W. Corcoran has made three different appointments to come here and investigate, but as yet he has not arrived. He is at the head of the rating bureau at Columbus, and even when he does come may not do anything more than go home again. The movement was started, as stated in the News Review, several months ago, and there is nothing new in it other than that he has promised to come. All this talk is nonsense until there is something to talk about."

THE RECEPTION

Of the Y. M. C. A. to the Old Veterans Last Night.

There was a nice audience assembled in the gymnasium rooms of the Young Men's Christian association last night, on the occasion of the annual reception tendered the old veterans by the members of the association. The stage was nicely set with the national colors, palms and ferns. Miss Chapman presided at the piano and discoursed charming instrumental music throughout the evening. The meeting opened with prayer by Mr. Thomas McCann, after which the audience rendered a patriotic song. Reverend O'Meara, rector of St. Stephens church, made a pleasing, happy address, listened to with the closest attention by the boys who wore the blue. Comrade D. J. Smith, the irrepressible prophet of Mount Pisgah, then delivered a characteristic address, enthusiastically applauded by his hearers. Little Nancy Taylor rendered service of song in "Mother's Bible," assisted in chorus by members of the Junior league of the First Methodist Episcopal church, followed by Miss Georgie McClain with "The Bugler," nicely sung. The stereopticon views of battle scenes and kindred features were a very pleasing feature of the night. The entertainment closed with "Columbia the Gem of the Ocean." Members of the Relief corps and Sons of Veterans were present as invited guests. The evening was one of unalloyed pleasure and enjoyment, much appreciated by the vets.

SOME EVENTS.

That Will Take Place Tomorrow in This Vicinity.

The program for Memorial Day will be carried out in this city and Wells-ville as already published in the News Review. No changes have been made, and the programs stand as originally intended.

The Phoenix club and their friends will spend the day at Camp Bouquet, and a large party will picnic near Fredericktown.

The base ball games in the West End will attract a large number of visitors, and the printer's game over the river will attract an audience of no mean proportions.

At Fredericktown the veterans have arranged for a day of pleasure. Doctor Holtz, the talented elder of the Methodist Episcopal church, will address the assembly, and other well known speakers will be present. The best of music will be there, and the ladies of the Methodist Episcopal church will serve dinner to the hungry. A number of Liverpool people will be present.

A VALUED RELIC.

Copy of Resolutions Adopted 30 Years Ago Today.

Fred Croxall has in his possession a copy of the resolutions adopted at Murfreesboro 30 years ago today by the commissioned officers of the One Hundred and Fifteenth infantry, in memory of the officers and men of the regiment who were killed when the steamer Sultana blew up near Memphis a month before. The committee who drew up the resolutions were Colonel Hill, Surgeon Jones, Captain J. A. Means and Captain Buckingham, all well known names to the veterans of Liverpool. The resolutions are touching but manly, and Mr. Croxall values them highly.

From Hookstown.

Mr. Swearingen, an intelligent and reliable farmer residing at Hookstown, Pa., said to a News Review reporter this morning:

"The first frost struck us hard in our locality. The fruit is gone. I had fifteen acres of nice looking corn. Jack knocked this over to the ground. It reviled and was coming to the front once more, in good shape, when a second visitation cut the life completely out of it, and I have been compelled to replant. I am not a calamity howler, and always try to look on the bright side of life; but the bright side is hard to find from a farming standpoint just at present."

Slept in a Car.

About 11:30 o'clock the patrol was called to the Horn switch just back of the planing mill, where Officer Whan had found John Burns and Charles Brown in a beastly state of intoxication. They were sleeping in a box car and Burns was dirt from head to foot and covered with straw. The two men were locked up, and the remark was made that, with Tim Burns in jail, the whole family would soon be in the coop. Charges of drunkenness was preferred against the two men.

Ready For the Fray.

York, the wheelman, leaves today for Youngstown where he will ride a Genderson wheel, bearing the gold and blue of the Ceramic City Cycle club in the races tomorrow. He is in good condition and his friends expect to see him win.

Jewell goes to Steubenville this evening to be in line for the races tomorrow. He has trained to good advantage, and his supporters believe he can teach the villagers down the river a lesson or two.

A Happy Family.

The entertainment to be given by Sipe & Dolman's happy family of intelligent ponies and brilliant dogs in this city under the tent on the West End ball park three nights, beginning Monday, June 3, is indeed a happy family. They are handsome, intelligent, educated and they will make you laugh. They will surprise you. Their every action is wonderful. They perform what no other company of animal actors ever attempted. They have appeared in every city on the American continent before millions of the best people in the land. They have amused more children than any other one attraction in the world. They are particularly fond of children. They love candy, apples and all kinds of sweetmeats. Matinee will be given Wednesday at 2:30 p. m.

BENDHEIM'S, DIAMOND.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. John Wolfe, of West End, a son.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. James Johnson, East End, a son.

A little son of John Metsch, engineer at Metsch's mill, is seriously ill with lung fever.

A large number from this city will attend a dance in Junior Mechanic hall in Chester tonight.

The repair car on the electric line was out today and fixed the wire at the Second street switch and Washington street curve.

The Tunnell Orphans defeated the Clay Cities in a game of ball at Chester yesterday by a score of 21-9. They are looking for more worlds to conquer.

The river fell considerably last night and is still on the decline. The Lizzie Bay passed down and took on 20 casks of ware, while the Bedford up took a half dozen packages.

Work was begun today on the moving of all the furniture from the rooms which have served as temporary schools, and the desks and tables are being stored in the new central building.

C. Schlichting shipped his household goods yesterday to Leechburg, Pa., but East Liverpool was not a loser in population, as W. J. Rurt moved with his family from Beaver county.

The Daughters of America initiated several candidates at their meeting last night, and after the session held a pleasant social and dance. Refreshments were served and helped to pass the time merrily.

The Junior Epworth league of the Second Methodist Episcopal church gave a pleasant garden party in East End last night. It was attended by a good sized crowd, and was a social and financial success.

John C. Owen yesterday shipped a fine fox terrier to John E. Washer, jailor at Akron. Mr. Washer, it will be remembered, was prominent among the delegates to the state convention of the Sons of Saint George.

The case of Walter Quinn versus John Rinehart for wages to the amount of $40, which was set for trial in Squire Rose's court yesterday afternoon, was continued until Friday afternoon at 1 o'clock, owing to a note book being among the important evidence and it had been mislaid.

The two boys supposed to be implicated in stealing the short stop's glove and sweater are given the credit by the association boys with having returned them. The boys found them under the grandstand and brought them to the association rooms at once. The catcher's glove has not been recovered.

Mr. Conkle, the dairyman who resides a few miles back in the country, was surprised by some 150 friends calling on him and his wife to celebrate their silk and linen wedding. The guests presented Mr. and Mrs. Conkle with many presents in the line of fabrics mentioned and sat down to a feast which will long be remembered. The day was thoroughly enjoyed by all.

D. F. White, of East End, returned last evening from a trip to his farm in Carroll county. He found that Jack Frost had paid a visit to that section and white oak leaves came off the trees at a touch, hickory and walnuts were destroyed, wheat was nearly all killed and apple trees laden with fruit require but the weight of a finger to send a shower of apples to the ground.

Two young men, one named Robinson and the other known as "Jack the ripper," fought for blood on the railroad near Mountford's pottery last night. They wallowed about in the dirt and succeeded in pummeling each other severely. Quite a crowd saw the mill and how the fighters were covered with oil and grease during the contest. The pair came near being run over by a freight train.

Spectators about city hall were treated to a lively war of words last night before council convened, and a monkey and parrot time was threatened, but happily averted. The principals were Doctor Birkett and Willard Morris on one side and Theodore Bradshaw on the other. The argument was about the improvement of Indiana avenue, and the ownership of property on that thoroughfare and threatened to become serious, the lie having been passed several times.

When Constable Albright enters the service of the Salvation Army as an officer he will have the rank of captain, and will be stationed at Cleveland for the present. There are seven corps of the army in that city, and Mr. Albright expects to be assigned to No. 2, on Woodlawn avenue. The place is a very good one, and the quarters all that could be asked. The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Albright wish them God speed, and a pleasant life in their new home. A telegram from Captain Parker, Cleveland, received by Mr. Albright today, urged him to come to that city at once. Dick and his family will leave tomorrow morning.

School History.

Cooper Opera House was beautifully decorated last night, and it was filled with a large audience when the tones of an excellent orchestra announced that commencement exercises would begin.

Second honors in the class belonged to Miss Mary Boyd, and she handled her subject, "Footprints on the Sands of Time," with rare skill. The young lady was followed by William C.
Denslow on the "Immigration Problem," and "Music and Flowers"
was the subject handled by Miss Mary Brunner. "The Good Old Times," by Miss Mary E. Davidson, was received with hearty applause, and the music which followed was a relief from the monotony of the occasion. George E.
McBane chose "Oh Happy Tears!
Once More Who Would Not be a Boy," and the manner in which he made the principal thoughts of his subject stand out against the commonplace ideas of the average oration was the feature of the number. The beautiful possibilities of the subject were shown so well that the young man was given a cordial recognition. Miss Marian Everson in "He Sings to the Wide World, She to Her Nest. In the Nice Ear of Music Which Song is the Best?"
was at her best, and the production was one of the best written and delivered of the evening. Frederick Lester McCarrel spoke of "Hail to the Chief," and in doing it reviewed in a manly way some important points in history. Miss R. Maude Weaver saw many beautiful things in the "C Major of Life," and "Pandora's Box" brought some pretty ideas from Miss Maude E.
Lewis. Elbert M. Pugh found in "Many Join the Chase But Few in Triumphs Share" a typical graduation subject, "And Things Are Not What They Seem," by Miss Margaret Anna Cloherty, proved training and preparation. The valedictory by Joseph Carlos Denslow was coupled with the oration "What Hath God Wrought," and was a meritorious production.
Professor McDonald in a few words presented the diplomas and commencement was over.

The class is made up of talented young men and women who made an excellent showing last night and brought praise from their many friends. They go to make an exceptionally high standard, and have completed the course with honor to themselves and their instructors.

Bound to Court.

William Allenbach and Amanda Logan were given a hearing for neglecting to remember that a marriage and all other men who have to look neat while at work, should know about "CELLULOID" COL-LARS AND CUFFS. They look exactly like linen, wear well and being waterproof do not wilt down with heat and moisture.

They do not soil easily and can be cleaned in a moment by simply wiping off with a wet sponge or cloth. Do not confuse these in your mind with composition goods. Every piece of the genuine is stamped like this:

Ask for these and refuse anything else if you wish satisfaction. Remember that goods so marked are the only waterproof goods made by coating a linen collar with waterproof "Celluloid," thus giving strength and durability.
If your dealer should not have the "Celluloid" send amount direct to us and we will mail you

IN POLICE COURT.

Victims Who Paid Their Fines—Some Stories Denied.

When Bill Farmer called at city hall
this morning there was blood in his eye. He was looking for John Burns and Charles Brown. He said they had stolen four of his chickens and sold them to buy strong drink.
William moralized extensively on the matter and thought a poor man had no show in this country. He preferred charges against the pair and they will have to answer.
Circumstances are against them as neither of the pair are generally possessed of wealth. So far as could be learned, Saloonist Sullivan purchased two of Bill's chickens and the other two were disposed of for ready cash.
Bill will endeavor to find out what fairly tales were concocted in order to secure the cash for the fowls, and thinks anybody should have immediately suspected the pair.

Will Farrish secured his release from jail last night by a friend paying his fine, something more than $10.

The party concerned in the Skelton racket, who was locked up, was released last night by paying $6.75. His friends put up the amount.

Sometimes there are tales of woe at city hall and again there are none.
Yesterday there was less than none at all, but the boys manufactured a couple for a down town paper. Mayor Gilbert told the reporter that they were fakes but the stories were published with glaring headlines just the same. They were of the wildest imaginings.

MR. PUSEY DENIES.

Says He Can Prove He Doesn't Owe the City a Cent.

Captain Elwood Pusey of the ferry boat Ollie Neville, made the following statement to a News Review reporter
this morning:

"The statement in the paper yesterday that Solicitor Clark was urged to levy on the boat is an injustice to me and I desire a correction. When I bought the boat from Taylor & Morley I purchased the five years' lease, and they had paid for this length of time, I suppose if they didn't it is no affair of mine. Council could not claim it of me. I do not owe the city a cent although they press the claim of $400.
As soon as that five years expires and I expect it is almost up now, I will pay them $100 if they persist. I always have paid my wharfage and always intend to. This matter has not been brought before council as it should be. I went to the finance committee and wanted a conference after Clerk Hanley had presented his bill. They put me off saying they would investigate it. They did not investigate. I was at the meeting of council last night, but they did not mention it. I simply want the people to understand that I pay my rent."

STOLE A HORSE.

Motorman Smith's Fine Animal Taken
Last Evening.

Motorman Thomas Smith today reported to police headquarters the theft of his horse.

The horse, a black five year old, was stolen from the pasture of William Allison, just above East End, last night and there is no trace of the thief. The horse is valued at about $150. Mr. Smith offers a liberal reward for its recovery.

HURRYING TO ADJOURN.

The U. P. Assembly Rushing Business Today—Seminary Control.

PITTSBURG, May 29.—The United Presbyterian assembly is rushing business through today so as to be ready to adjourn this afternoon or evening.

The majority and minority reports on seminary control provoked considerable discussion, and were finally recommended to the committee on bills and overtures.

The majority report was as follows:
"The whole number of votes cast on the first question was 1,062—ayes, 734;
noes, 319. One the second question, 1,065—ayes, 794, and noes, 281. It appears therefrom that both of these overtures have been carried in the affirmative by a clear majority of the votes of the whole church. We recommend the following:

"Resolved, That this assembly does hereby enact the following as part of the constitutional law of the United Presbyterian church: 'The general assembly shall have the veto power in the election of professors in our theological seminaries. The general assembly shall have power to remove a professor for unsoundness in the faith.'"

"Resolved, That this action is not to be understood as interfering with rights vested in the synods having control of the existing seminaries of the church further than may be indicated in the language of the overtures themselves."

"Resolved, In answer to the memorial of Allegheny presbytery, this assembly shall require the directors of the seminary to report annually on all matters coming within the oversight of the assembly."

"Resolved, That we recommend that a committee of five be appointed by the assembly to negotiate with the synods having control of the theological seminaries, with a view to the adjustment of any apparent or alleged discrepancies between this action and their chartered rights."

This report was signed by John H.
Brown, D. W. Collins, D. H. McCreary
and J. C. Pinkerton.

The minority report contains an amendment to the first resolution of the majority report, as follows: "Resolved, That in loyal obedience to and in fulfillment of this decision and authoritative judgment of the same, the following amendments to the Book of Government and Discipline, part I, chapter 5, article 4, section 3, be made by inserting immediately after the words 'terms and course of study,' the following, 'to confirm on veto the election of professors to any of our theological seminaries, and to remove for unsoundness in the faith in the way provided in the Book of Government,' be and is hereby overruled to vote 'yea' and 'nay' upon it.'"

This report was signed by J. C. Taggart and J. O. Campbell.
